

("To become master of the chaos one is, to compel one's chaos to become form, to become logical, simple, unambiguous, mathematics, law... that is the grand ambition here"

- Nietzsche, The Will to Power)

As darkness falls you realize
 You cannot flirt with the night
 You must seduce her you must use her
 So that she'll be your bride
 Then she will hide you and protect you
 As you set about your course
 Hands on the wheel lights on the street
 The engine roars
 As you close in on your prey
 The night will be on your side

The gun is loaded hammer cocked
 Your boot holds the hunting-knife
 Because a hunt this surely is
 It is a means to survive
 The keychain holds the lockpicks
 And the crowbar lies
 Right in the trunk
 With all the ropes and cable ties
 To bring down what has brought you down

 Means tasting life

Take a good look at the color of my soul
 It is red
 It is red as you might know

Instinct kicks in predator brain
 My focus lies on the prey
 Nothing and no one here to stop me
 As defenses give way
 Now it is showtime
 You'd say doomsday me high noon
 My mind is clear
 Whereas your senses swim and swoon
 And light bursts through the red haze
 As I behold the new day

Take a good look at the color of my soul
 It is red
 It is red as you might know

Take a good look at the color of my soul
 It is red
 Like blood as you might know

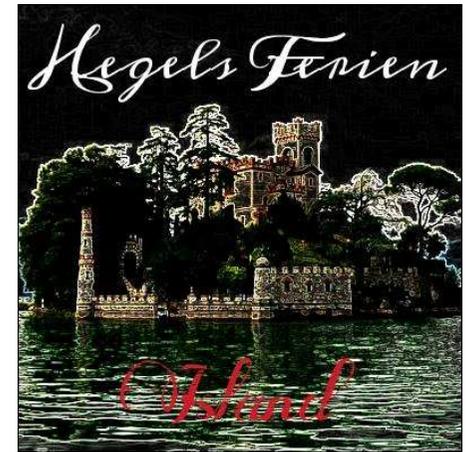

Valerian Valerian come take me by the hand
 And lead me down the winding road to Morpheus' land
 Valerian Valerian let me sleep without pain
 Valerian I'm begging you again

Valerian Valerian my emperor you are
 I drink to your health and to mine come darken the last star
 Valerian Valerian bring this day to an end
 Valerian Valerian my friend

Valerian Valerian your crown is pink and white
 Let me fall down right at your feet and lay my thoughts aside
 Valerian Valerian let me sleep without pain
 Valerian I'm begging you again

Valerian Valerian lead me out of this hell
 So close my eyes and even if I don't wake all is well
 Valerian Valerian bring this day to an end
 Valerian Valerian my friend

Give me virgin soil
 Give me newfound land
 Untouched untainted unspoilt
 Unspent

Where I can hide my broken bones
 My cut up wrists and scars
 To wander shores no eyes have seen
 And gaze at undiscovered stars
 And find peace
 Melting my tortured soul in sand

Some nautical miles away
 An island lies where I'd want to stay
 Somewhere lost far out at sea
 With none of your spectres haunting me

A castle I will build here
 A lighthouse made of stone
 Which will be all inoperative
 And just for me alone
 There'll be a lamp
 Shedding light on the dark inside

The monsters of the outside world
 The friends and foes not mine

They all will be excluded
From this my island shrine
Only one
Will find all my doors open wide

Will it be you

Some nautical miles away
An island lies where I'd want to stay
Somewhere lost far out at sea
With none of your spectres haunting me

Some nautical miles away
An island lies

With none of your spectres

I plead to you
Daughter of the night
To righten that
Which wronged what's right
To settle now
The sore dispute
And help me up
To retribute

The water runs
The river bends
This stream of tears
Runs towards its end
In sorrow's wake
In fury's song
In mischief's mist
Becoming's done

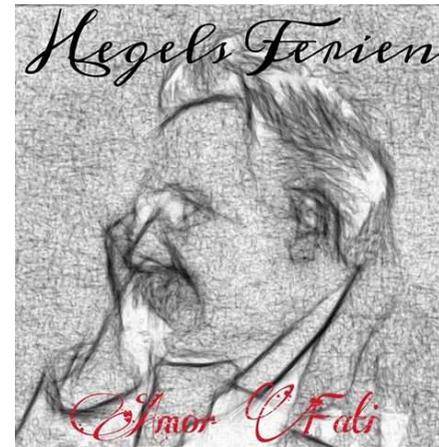

And we will see if it hurts just a little
And we will see if it burns
Yes we will see if it hurts just a little
As Fortune's wheel turns

Give me thy whip
And hold my hand
To never slip
Right where I stand
Your dagger here
Knows what it's for
To give what's due
Settle the score

The field's laid out
The pieces stand
Now guide my thoughts
And lead my hand
In bleak defeat
No beauty lies
My cup of tea
Is served with ice

And we will see if it hurts just a little
We will see if it burns
Yes we will see if it hurts just a little
As Fortune's wheel turns

And we will see if it hurts just a little
We will see if it burns
Yes we will see if it hurts just a little
As Fortune's wheel churns

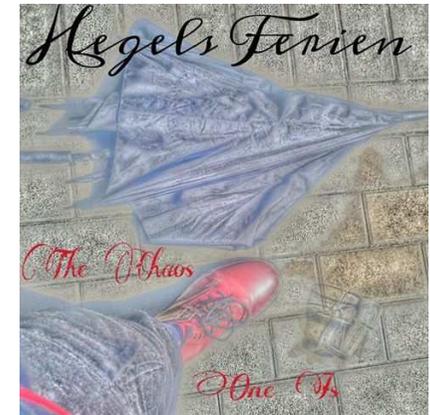

Order the chaos that you are
Don't waste strength in useless fights
Trying to annihilate everything's got rights
Give birth to a sparkling star
Everything inside must find its place
Everything outside cannot be changed
So you can love it all will be arranged
By a man who accepts his fate

Form and function have their time
And their place within your self
You just have to place it on the right shelf
Just like reason now let's talk wine
Music and dancing pleasure and pain
Search for the right place for them too
They have the right to exist within you
Peace to your ruins to your remains

All your sorrows in the past
Nail your colors to the mast
Push what is about to fall
Fears in distant futures lie
Let hopes and ambitions die
I know it's a monstrous call

After everything is said and done
You will look back upon your life
Far in the past lies all your strife
The future is veiled in the present be one
Stride through the streets open the gate
Breathe in the air and feel the sun
Taste the rain and whistle a song
Grand style lover of your fate

All your sorrows in the past
Nail your colors to the mast
Push what is about to fall
Fears in distant futures lie
Let hopes and ambitions die
I know it's a monstrous call

Alle Texte und Musik:

J.Hegel

© Johannes Hegel 2015/16